

J.G.A. Pocock is Emeritus Professor at The Johns Hopkins University. He has made many distinguished contributions to intellectual history: among them, The Ancient Constitution and the Feudal Law (1957), The Machiavellian Moment (1975), Virtue, Commerce and History (1985), and, most recently, Barbarism and Religion I: The Enlightenments of Edward Gibbon, and Barbarism and Religion II: Narratives of Civil Government (both published in 1999). He is a Fellow of the British Academy and of the Royal Historical Society. He is also a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and of the American Philosophical Society. Professor Pocock is speaking at Concordia University in conjunction with Lonergan College's year-long seminar on Capitalism and Enlightenment (LUCC 398E/2 and LUCC 398F/4).
